

Hi,
I'm Juliana.

Product Manager today, Designer every day (Also Digital Artist!)

Introducing myself

I believe in inspiration as a way of life.

I embrace

the process of never stopping, always going forward, seeking challenges to keep the spark on.

I want to create a close relationship with other people, because this is how I learned to communicate myself with the world, and I like that.

I love to awaken sensations, generate changes, transform others' experiences.

Who I am

Product Manager today, Designer every day. Buenos Aires | AR
Degree in Graphic Design and Communication. UNLP.
10+ years of visual design experience that involve:

- Building user-centric products and experiences based on designing and developing concepts and flows for a wide range of multi-platform environments (web, mobile, OTT) and brands, having a special consideration in how a product is experienced by consumers and how to satisfy their needs.
- Having a deep understanding of responsive design, identifying problems and providing solutions.
- Management and creation of wireframes, visual mockups, prototypes and guidelines systems, establishing best practices and setting visual design boundaries.

- Leading UI internal and external teams from Argentina, Canada, Chile and Colombia by providing critical feedback, offering alternatives, encouraging to improve products by proposing bold solutions, improving the overall experience and quality presented in each piece delivered.
- Staying up-to-date on researching trends and technologies and the latest changes of the industry's standards.
- Assuming duties such as coordinating content production with a picky eye on the design quality across all the digital channels with a special attention to detail and timeline management.
- Working in a collaborative environment with partners such as UX & UI designers, product owners, product managers and developers to understand detailed requirements, to communicate design ideas and embrace user experiences that meet product needs and their vision.

Some of the amazing brands I've been working with over the last years, consumed and admired by millions of people around the world:

Juli was (and is) creative and meticulous designer, taking all the projects she assumed with positive personality, leaving her personal mark in every project that involves her. I will choose her to be onboard of any new adventures in Disney. She stands out year by year in being a person who cares for everyone doing the teamwork easy.
